Report on Wall Magazine

Type of the Activity: Participatory

The students of the Department of Sociology, publish wall magazines on a regular basis. Students, with some guidance from their teachers, publish these magazines and show their potential as effective writers and are capable of developing their cutting-edge skills.

Objectives

- To improve the literary and creative abilities of the students
- To boost students' self-esteem and develop their abilities to deal with interpersonal difficulties.
- To foster students' ability to think critically and independently and to instil a sense of self-assurance
- To assist students in cultivating their personalities so they can feel good about themselves.

Date:07.09.21. Time of the Event: 1:00 pm

Number of attendees: (a) Student (Sem 1): 50(Among them 14 students took an active role in the publication of the magazine)

Venue: Departmental Board of First Floor of the Vidyasagar Bhawan of the College

Outcome/Feedback

- Student publications provide additional learning opportunities for students to practice and engage in their writing craft as an extracurricular activity.
- There is a sense of ownership and pride in the writing process because when they submit to magazines or bulletin boards, they are more conscious of the fact that people will read their work.
- Student publications help students develop important life skills through collaborating on ideas, working in teams, setting objectives and deadlines, solving problems, keeping records, using technology, and other exercises.
- The publication experience also exposes students to and develops their talents in various academic and professional sectors, such as editing, publishing, writing, teaching, graphic design, etc.
