For Undergraduate students (Session 2022-2023)

Starting date: March 20, 2023

Venue: Department of Geography, Serampore Girls' College

(20th -25th March 2023)

About the college

Serampore Girls' College was established in 6th June, 1981 by a group of visionaries who stood for the propagation of female education in this part of our sub-divisional town. This college, fittingly inaugurated by the noted educationist and the then President of West Bengal Higher Secondary Council late Smt. Anila Devi, catered to a long standing demand of the local people for a college exclusive for Girls' which originally started with only 47 of students on its roll and with only seven general subjects in humanities group. In 1983 the first batch of students was sent for their Graduation Examination and since then it has maintained its steady journey with an average of 2000-3000 students on its roll per year (College official Website: <http://seramporegirlscollege.org/sgc/>).

About the department

Department of Geography started its journey from the academic session 1998-1999 & 2001-2002 under the University of Calcutta with the introduction of both -general and honours courses respectively. From the very beginning, the department is improving the academic standard and the performance of the students. The department has a rich variety of learning –teaching resources consisting of seminar library, computer laboratories, soil laboratory, and cartography laboratory including modern surveying equipments. Remote Sensing & GIS facilities are ready for the students so that they can have access to the most updated knowledge of Geography. This will empower them to peruse higher studies directly or indirectly related to Geography. Department of Geography is the Nodal Centre of Indian Institute of Remote Sensing Distance Learning Certificate Course (IIRS Outreach Programme), Department of Space, Government of India, Dehradun. The major activities of the department are regular class work, internal assessment, yearly test, remedial classes for all students (both theory and practical) GIS practice on regular basis, field study and syllabus oriented topic based class seminar. The department encourages the students to participate in poster presentation, seminars, projects, fieldwork excursions to acquire geographical knowledge from the real experience. The department has well-stocked books for regular use of the students. The modern teaching method with the aid of projectors to provide audio-visual inputs has been practiced in the department (Departmental Website: <http://seramporegirlscollege.org/sgc/department.php?did=Geography>).

4. Name of the Course Co-ordinator: Dr Suranjana Bhadra

5. Hours of Teaching-Learning: 32

6. Objective of the Course:

Translation studies is an academic field that systematically deals with the theory, description and application of translation. Being both an interlingual transfer and an intercultural communication, translation studies can also be described as an inter-discipline which draws on other diverse fields of knowledge including comparative literature, cultural studies, gender studies, history, linguistics, philosophy, rhetoric and semiotics. The skills of translation are becoming ever more important and desirable as today's multicultural and multilingual society demands effective, efficient and empathetic communication between languages and cultures.

Ever since the term “translation studies” was coined by the Holland-based American researcher James Stratton Holmes in his paper ‘The Name and Nature of Translation Studies’ (1972), which is still considered to be the foundational work for this academic discipline, the term has cathected with a flurry of possibilities, both disciplinary and interdisciplinary. This course aims to equip the student with a proper knowledge of the aspects of creative literature, Transcreation and the function of Mass media in society and the various issues involved in translation. This course has been therefore designed for the students with a view to:

- providing our students with a thorough knowledge of the history of translation;
- enabling our students to interact critically and productively with examples from translation from various languages;
- introducing our students to some of the techniques and theoretical aspects of translation studies;
- verifying the validity and applicability of the theoretical paradigms through analysis of a number of existing translations;
- identifying and highlighting comparative differences in literary traditions through the linguistic and literary analyses of source and translated texts.
- Acquiring skills of translation especially in English and their mother tongue.

1. Students will be required to read and analyze a significant number of texts on translation theory, selected for their historical relevance in the field of translation studies. Readings will be arranged on the bases of chronological and historical progressions. Nonetheless, the format of the course will allow for diachronic digressions, as deemed necessary. This format reflects directly the evolution of translation theory, which is not linear but follows a meandering, convoluted pattern. Students will be able to systematize ideas on translation according to the literary period that generated them and to follow their development in the history of literature.
2. Students will be asked to verify the validity and applicability of the theories discussed by analyzing a limited number of translations of literary and non-literary works. This approach is derived from both theoretical and practical considerations. Translation theory, in most cases, derives from practice and is inseparable from it. Any history of translation, devoid of its direct source or direct application, would be incomplete. As translation scholars have repeatedly proven, the most effective procedure in this respect is to study various samples of translation from the same text. For example, by limiting the analysis to a single source text with a number of target language texts, students will be able to infer the same basic process in operation that can be found in the analysis of several source texts.
3. Translation fosters critical thinking, and is a great aid in the practice of interdisciplinary research. By the end of this course, our students will be able to identify with greater ease the differences in literary traditions, thanks to the reading and the comparative analysis of original and translated texts. In fact, the process of translation as reading has been described as a spiral that departing from the text develops externally. Through incremental “contexting,” translation students will be able to expand their range of search beyond the confines of genre and national literature, and will be able to see more clearly how originals and translations function within literature as a polysystem.

About NSOU

Netaji Subhas Open University (NSOU), a premier State Open University in India, is committed to the mission of imparting quality education to a vast majority of Learners across the State of West Bengal and beyond, started its maiden journey in July, 1998. The priority focus of its pedagogy is on the enhancement of the Learners' knowledge in different disciplines in Open and Distance Modes of Learning (ODL). It was established in fulfilment of the Chief Minister's vision of a State Open University of premier status that he articulated in a State Function way back in 1997, the year of Netaji Subhas Bose's birth centenary, with a desire to hallow it in Netaji's revered name and memory. West Bengal State Assembly's Act-XIX, 1997 was a holistic follow-up to give shape to the then Chief Minister's vision, and NSOU was founded in the house #of Sarat Chandra Bose in July, 1998. University Grants Commission was prompt enough to recognize NSOU vide Memo No.F.9-2-97, dt.26.08.1998. NSOU came under the ambit of Distance Education Council's recognition in April, 2008 vide its Memo No.F:DEC/ Recog/2008. As a centre of excellence in ODL (Open and Distance Learning) mode, NSOU was awarded the membership of AIU (Association of India Universities), New Delhi 110 002 and subsequently accredited as Grade A in first cycle of NAAC assessment.

About the Centre

The prime objective of CLTCS (Centre for Language, Translation & Cultural Studies) is the dissemination of the knowledge of language as part of cultural studies, as language is a powerful tool of the individual's integration with socioeconomic hierarchy and self-uplift. The introduction of Online Certificate in Communicative English course is a break away from the traditional, long drawn process of learning in close ended syllabi as followed by all variants of schooling in our country. The open-ended, intensely focused and interactive mode of learning in PCP models (Personal Contact Programme) is now almost a compulsion of the day. In tune with this perception and objective, CLTCS provides a motivational frame to induct a large cross-section of students and give shape to their dreams.

- Read books in English both prescribed and reference materials and make notes for future use.
- Read books and summarise them and provide answers based on questions asked in their own language.
- Participate in classroom interaction, respond to teachers' questions and also be enthused to take part in competitions such as debates, elocutions etc.
- Write personal notes, simple letters, answers to questions, reports on work done as required by the academic needs of the course.

3. Contents: The course administrators have specially identified passages from different books to promote reading skills. The passages chosen are supplemented with customized exercises to develop their understanding of English Grammar, use various words in context, develop vocabulary on their own using references such as a dictionary, and also be initiated into writing. All materials will be provided either in the form of handouts or photocopied materials to the learners. (The promise to supply materials may be modified as per the norms of the university and the MoU with the college.)

4. Methodology: The course will be offered at the rate of 1 session (of 60 minutes duration) per week and this will be supplemented by teaching in the college. The duration of the course will be for sixteen weeks (four months) starting December 2022. Compulsory attendance in each class is envisaged for better results. The classroom methodology will be as follows:

- All sessions will be interactive
- The teacher provides tasks such as reading tasks, discussion tasks, or problem solving tasks to facilitate proper use of language.
- The learner participation on all tasks is mandatory
- The teacher will initiate a discussion, provide essential inputs and the reading and interpretation of the text will be the responsibility of the learner.

- Handholding is given in the initial couple of weeks, but gradually, the learners will be weaned of this habit.
- There will be continuous assessment and this will be based on completing the exercises appended to the passages as well as assignments and projects as given by the teacher.

5. Evaluation: As mentioned in the previous section, the assessment of the learners will be continuous. Such assessment will be formative and at the end of the course, there will be a summative assessment (final examination). The final examination will carry a weight of 70 percent while the classroom assessment will carry 30percent of marks.

- ✚ The final examination will have two parts to it.
- ✚ The written examination will assess the reading and writing skills
- ✚ The second part of the examination will be in the form of oral examination to assess listening and speaking skills.
- ✚ The learners will be asked to respond to questions on an audio file and submit it within a stipulated period.
- ✚ Both the parts of the examination will carry equal weight.

6. Conclusion: The syllabus envisages to provide the best help to learners. The learning that happens on the course needs to be sustained by continuing the practice by the teachers in the college. This course initiates the learners to the art of learning, and developing it further rests on their effort.

As a centre of excellence in ODL (Open and Distance Learning) mode, NSOU was awarded the membership of AIU (Association of India Universities), N. Delhi-110 002.

About the Centre

The prime objective of CLTCS (Centre for Language, Translation & Cultural Studies) is the dissemination of the knowledge of language as part of cultural studies, as language is a powerful tool of the individual's integration with socio-economic hierarchy and self-uplift. It is CLTCS's perception that a teeming multitude of pass-outs from conventional schools, colleges and universities shy away from speaking and writing English as they should. The introduction of short-term Certificate Courses in Communicative English is a break away from the traditional, long-drawn process of learning in close-ended syllabi as followed by all variants of schooling in our country. The open-ended, intensely focussed and interactive mode of learning in PCP models (Personal Contact Programme) is now almost a compulsion of the day. In tune with this perception and objective, CLTCS provides a motivational frame to induct a large cross-section of students and give shape to their dreams and latent language potential. This underscores the fact that a significant number of students in mainstream, conservative academics flounders and is left wayside grovelling as abjectly unemployable burden. NSOU, its University Campus and its Study Centres spread-sheeted all over West Bengal are dedicated to subserving the needs of an up and coming generation of Learners. Its outreach now encompasses a wide range of disciplines from short-term Certificate Courses to Bachelor and Postgraduate Programmes, alongside opening up avenues to Research fields.

In the short-term Certificate Courses in Communicative English CLTCS's funnelled focus is on nurturing the language potential of each Learner by harnessing all available linguistic resources and pedagogical outfits.

CLTCS emerged as an academic hub in conformity with the standard parameters of Translation, Language and Culture Studies. Its focal thrust is to inculcate humanist, cultural and linguistic studies on the Learners. Indeed, CLTCS shares the latest logistics and pedagogy, made available to it by the parent University, NSOU, to enhance the impact of teaching on the beneficiary end: the Learners. The performance of ODL method of teaching in CLTCS may compare that which hallmarks the Open Universities in U.K. and in other Western countries. CLTCS introduced short-term Courses in Communicative English to give a lifting hand to those who slid down the social ladder because of their incapacity to speak and write English as they should. Short-term Courses are meant to address their cause. The Course Structures and Contents are so orchestrated as to impress upon the target Learners i. a motivation to pick communication in English from their circumambient resources; ii. Funnelling their inherent language potential to a taut highpoint of skill-development through PCP modes. With this perspective on mind, CLTCS devised a tailor-fit step-up Certificate Course-sequence, each of 3 months' duration: CICE

(CERTIFICATE IN COMMUNICATIVE ENGLISH) and ACICE (ADVANCED CERTIFICATE IN COMMUNICATIVE ENGLISH). CLTCS welcomes the vast majority of Learners from the wide-spread hinterlands and backblocks of the State, and its urban/suburban stretch-outs as well, where the average run of students misses the art of mastering Communicative English, oral and written. The principle that underlines the ascending strata of short-term courses in Communicative English is to upgrade the communication potential of an average Learner to a state-of-the-art Communicative English Proficiency (CEP). In order to achieve the ultimate goal of CEP, that is, a high bench-mark of Proficiency in speaking, listening, reading and writing in English, CLTCS undertakes an all-out interactive programme for the prospective Learner, in virtuoso.

Desk of the Director, School of Humanities

It is in place to say here that English is now the only 'Majority Language' the world over, relegating all other languages including German, French and Spanish among others to 'Minority Linguistic status'. Indeed, there is no going for the up and coming generations of Learners without a confident command of English Spoken and Written, in the emergent, global spheres of our socio-economic existence. In a sense, apart from being a 'window language, a 'reference language' and 'link language' Communicative English has evolved into a 'Survival Language' in the present-day world. It is the perception of CLTCS that a teeming multitude of youngsters and pass-outs shies away from speaking and writing English as it should be. With this realisation CLTCS devised tailor-fit courses in Communicative English. I do trust that learners who participate in these courses will benefit from these courses and emerge as competent and efficient individuals in both professional and social spheres.
